

Proud Member Organization

AmpleHarvest.org uses the Internet to connect gardeners and growers with excess bounty to share, with non-profit organizations distributing food at no charge to those in need in the community.

- Do you, or someone you know, grow fruit and vegetables?
- Do you work in a local community garden, or know of one?
- Do your children have a school garden?

Backyard gardeners, community gardeners, small growers, farmers markets, children learning to grow in school gardens, and others all across America are donating their excess fruit and vegetables to food pantries.

Neighbors Feeding Hungry Neighbors • No Food Left Behind

AmpleHarvest.org is connecting our community members and creating an ongoing supply of fresh locally grown food, for free.

Please inquire inside about the days and times we can accept your fresh produce donations.

Thank you for feeding and nourishing your hungry neighbors.

www.AmpleHarvest.org