

Attn: Farmers Market Manager:

AmpleHarvest.org^(sm) is a free, nationwide program—backed by Google and the USDA—that helps family farmers and backyard growers eliminate hunger in their communities by linking them with local food pantries that are ready and able to accept their excess and unsold harvest.

Farmers Markets like yours are key to getting fresh food in the pantries and on to the tables of hungry families. We could use your help spreading the word with your vendors about this opportunity to donate their excess produce.

Please help diminish hunger in your community by posting the other side of this flier where your members can easily see it.

Additional copies of this flier are available for download at www.AmpleHarvest.org/LFarmersMarket.php

Please keep in touch if there are ways we can work together to make this successful in your community.

Thank you,

Emily Fulmer, Grower Outreach Coordinator

Farmers Markets Addressing Hunger In The Community

You may have fresh food left over at the end of the market day that you have to take back or worse, throw away—a burden for you, a loss for the

One out of six of Americans needs help feeding their family yet can't get healthy fresh produce from a neighborhood food pantry.

It doesn't have to be that way!

AmpleHarvest.org helps you diminish hunger in your own community by linking farmers with a neighborhood food pantry ready and able to accept your excess garden bounty.
