Our Theory of Change

Our Theory of Change

AmpleHarvest.org Creates Solutions That:

- 1. Are Simple
- 2. Scale
- 3. Lasting Impact

Our Theory of Change

1. Reach People Wanting To Solve A Problem
 2. Educate Them About The Problem
 3. Enable Them To Solve The Problem
 4. Get Out Of Their Way

Our Theory of Change

AmpleHarvest.org addresses hunger and food waste as  misinformation missing information  problems.

www.AmpleHarvest.org/theoryofchange

Problems to be solved: Information Landscape

- 1. Gardeners - Hated wasting surplus harvest
- 2. Food pantries - Desperately needed fresh food

Problems to be solved: Misinformation

1. Gardeners

- Were told they couldn't donate surplus

2. Food pantries

- Thought they couldn't accept fresh food
- Thought they needed costly refrigeration

Problems to be solved: Missing Information

1. Gardeners

- Where to find a food pantry
- Best day and time to donate

2. Food pantries

- They didn't know gardeners had food to donate

Food Pantries

Solving Food Waste

Most gardeners, given the opportunity, are eager to donate that food to help the community yet never knew that they could - or where to take it.

Solving Hunger

Food pantries nationwide never knew that they could accept locally grown fresh food, and never knew that the gardeners were eager to donate it.

FOOD PANTRY

Important Points

- No donation is too small
- Fresh food donations protected by federal law
- Donations are tax deductible

More Important Points

- Social Distancing built into the model
- COVID-19 safety guidance available
- Fresh food donations more important than ever for health, immunity and recovery
- Promotes community engagement.
